PFP parents enjoy night out at Gay Bingo

On Saturday, March 12, 18 PFP parents enjoyed a much-needed night out at Gay Bingo at the Gershman Y in Center City. The monthly event benefits the AIDS Fund.

The BVDs (Bingo Verifying Divas) entertained the crowd while hostess-with-the-mostess Carlota Ttendant oversaw the 12 bingo games.

Philadelphia Family Pride had a great table right in front. We also sponsored game #9, which meant Community Coordinator Stephanie Haynes and her wife Vicky Kresge got to join Carlota on stage. Stephanie "called the balls" for the game and told the crowd about PFP.

After bingo, we ventured over to Q Lounge in the gayborhood for drinks, snacks and conversation.

If you have ideas for other Parent Night Out events, please let us know!

PFP sponsoring events at Equality Forum

Philadelphia Family Pride is very excited to be involved again this year with the annual "Global LGBT Summit" taking place in Philadelphia between April 25 - May 1.

On Saturday, April 30, PFP members will be part of a National Families Panel from 1:00 p.m. to 2:15 p.m. at the Levitt Auditorium in the Gershman Y (same location as Gay Bingo!), 401 S. Broad Street. The panel will take a look at the issues facing LGBT families from a variety of different perspectives.

Panelists include moderator Steven Sokoll, Deidre Ashton, Marla McCulloch, and Tiffany Palmer. Joining these PFP members will be Joe Valentine, former professional baseball player, who has two moms.

From 3:30 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. at nearby Temple - Center City (1515 Market Street, Room 321), PFP will lead a workshop entitled TransPARENT: Pathways to Parenthood. A panel of peers and experts will guide prospective transgender parents through the maze of assisted reproduction and adoption options to build a family.

Immediately following the workshop, PFP is hosting a Prospective Parent Happy Hour in the gayborhood at Tabu Lounge, 200 S. 12th Street from 5:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. This will be a great chance for prospective and current parents to mix and mingle. Please join us for snacks and cocktails. 10% of the bar will be donated to PFP!

Finally, on May 1, PFP will have a table at SundayOUT! at the Piazza in Northern Liberties. We're partnering with PFP member-owned kid's party venue Hip Philly to provide some fun for families with children who attend. Look for us there!

The advertisement features the Cafe Press logo in green and white. Below it is a white mug with the PFP logo. To the right are four pieces of clothing: a black long-sleeved shirt, a white and red raglan t-shirt, a blue t-shirt, and a white onesie. All items feature the PFP logo. Below the items is the text: "Visit the brand new Philly Family Pride Cafe Press store for your PFP logo gear: adult and kids t-shirts, tote bags, mugs, onesies and more! ### Catching up with longtime PFP members Barbara McDermott and Jeanne Buckley

Stephanie: Tell me about how you first got involved with PFP.

Barbara: I adopted our older daughter, Nicole, 19 years ago. At the time, there were parents, mostly women, in Mt. Airy who had biological children getting together informally to share birth and infant stories and discussing parenting issues. Adoptive parents, especially those of us with children of color, began getting together, too. Pretty soon, the two groups merged and became what is now PFP.

Many of the events you still organize we held back then, including the New Year's Day Brunch, the Halloween Party and involvement with city-wide pride festivals.

It's great to see other families carrying the torch and expanding the depth and breadth of programming, the number and type of families involved and the geographical diversity of the membership.

Stephanie: How did your involvement with PFP impact your family?

Barbara: It was very important for our daughters to be with other children of gay and lesbian parents, and for us, with other kids of color like them. Their world is so different and better than we could have ever expected 20 years ago in terms of society's treatment of our family.

Stephanie: What is your family up to now?

Barbara: Jeanne is the Director of Library Services and Instructional Technology at Arcadia University.

Our daughter Nicole, 21, is a multilingual world traveler and senior at Arcadia, majoring in International Affairs.

Colette, 19, is a former track star and sophomore at my alma mater Seton Hill University. She is vice president of her class and majoring in social work.

I am a criminal defense attorney with a long history of defending the poor, particularly those charged with capital offenses. I'm currently on the ballot for the May 17 primary in Philadelphia for the Court of Common Pleas.
